

COME & SING PURCELL in Tisbury
with the Cherubim Chamber Choir

Bank Holiday Weekend 23 & 24 May 2020

The weekend includes three sessions of choral training and a concert accompanied by Michael Maxwell Steer, organ and harpsichord, with the Cherubim String Quartet.

- You will need moderate music-reading ability, but help will be given
- A complete list of music will be sent before Easter.
- Excellent free coffee and biscuits. Optional Saturday dinner

Greg Skidmore is greatly in demand as singer and conductor. A member of I Fagiolini, he has sung with most of the major professional English choirs as well as many in Europe and his native Canada. He also performs extensively as a baritone soloist in music of all periods. Greg conducts the Lacock Scholars and leads choir workshops and courses specialising in renaissance polyphonic repertoire, here and internationally in association with The Sixteen and I Fagiolini.

Tisbury is the friendliest village in Wiltshire, with excellent cafés, pubs and a good range of shops. Tisbury lies midway between Salisbury and Shaftesbury, near the A303 and A30, and is equidistant from Bath and Southampton. It is on the Waterloo-Exeter line. There is first-rate walking from the village, with gastropubs within easy reach, plus good local accommodation. Ask for a list.

CHERUBIM MUSIC TRUST
(CHARITY NO. 1088403)

Cherubim Music Trust is a charity that loans professional-calibre orchestral instruments for five year periods to advanced music students, aged 15-25, who cannot afford one that matches their ability. Some of our awardees will perform in the accompanying consort. Proceeds from the weekend support the work of the Trust.
